ELT Teacher Talks

Cluster Mitte will be hosting regular ELT Teacher Talks. In our first talk last semester, three practicing middle school English teachers presented reading projects developed for their Master's theses. Each project aims to enhance English reading skills at the lower secondary level (A1-A2) while introducing critical topics such as racial injustice, inclusion, and rainbow families.

Watch the recordings here: https://udele2023.univie.ac.at/?page_id=1464.

Recommendations

English Language Teaching in Austria: From theory to the classroom and beyond

There's a great open-source guide to ELT for teachers in the Austrian context. There are chapters on technology in the classroom, how to use coursebooks effectively, differentiation and so much more!

Read for yourself here: <https://library-publishing.uni-graz.at/index.php/lp/catalog/book/40>

ICEPELL

With this project, practitioners can confidently include intercultural citizenship education into EFL lessons. With the help of picture books, children aged 5 to 12 learn about cultural differences and similarities, gain insight into civics, and are led to community action-taking projects. ICEPELL provides teaching packs as well as a ready-to-use manual for practitioners. Click here if you want to know more: <https://icepell.eu/>

ELT and AI

Alicia Bankhofer, an educator in English and Digital Competences, published the first part of a 4-part series about Using AI in the English classroom. Read it here: <https://shorturl.at/wLUVC>

Book Clubs

Did you know that students of teachers who are avid readers are more likely to become readers too? You might like to check out some of these book clubs.

Youth Book Club

The English Center Salzburg invites everyone to come to their store and browse their books in an inviting atmosphere. Teachers can also visit the store with their students. For young readers, the shop also has a book club! Sign up here: <https://www.theenglishcenter.at/youth-book-club.html>

Young Adult Book Club

For anyone 16+, the English Center also offers a club for young adults. Enjoy a cup of coffee, some cookies, and new friends at these events. Sign up here: <https://www.theenglishcenter.at/young-adult-book-club.html>

Vienna Lit Book Club

The literary society holds a book club once a month to discuss contemporary text at the University of Vienna. They also have book swaps! Sign up: <http://www.viennalit.at/bookgroup.htm>

“Fully Booked” Book Club

This on-site book club meets monthly at the University of Vienna. It is aimed at (primarily) students of education in the subject English. Topics revolve around contemporary children’s and young adult literature. Join now: <https://www.facebook.com/fullybookedcya/>

Klett Graphic Novels

This publisher offers a range of graphic novels fit for ELT lessons. They also have teachers guides. There are fantastic resources that emergent (and reluctant) English readers might enjoy, whether at AHS, MS or Poly, for example Class Act, Heartstopper and Long Way Down.
